Re: Shipment and Storage of Organic CRM's:

SPEX CertiPrep ships our organic CRM's under ambient conditions to our customers and where appropriate, we request our customers store these products in the freezer for long term storage. We have determined from our short term stability studies that ambient shipping conditions do not affect the stability of our products. From our long term stability studies we have determined that for long term storage our CRM's, in most cases, will be stable longer if they are stored in the freezer. If the back of our Certificate of Analysis states that the CRM is to be stored in the freezer, this only refers to the long term storage and not the conditions under which we ship the CRM to our customers and/or dealers.
